

RACES AT NORFOLK ON HEAVY TRACK

Favorites and Outsiders Equally in Evidence in the Finishes.

Norfolk, Va., November 4.—In spite of bad weather, with a gale blowing, the thermometer falling and now and then a driving rain, a large crowd was in attendance at the Jamestown jockey meeting today. Though the track was heavy, the racing was good, and the contests were a kind of a blood-bath. The favorites and outsiders were equally in evidence in the finishes, and as a result the patrons were well satisfied.

In the second race Cuttyhunk heavily played favorite, won in a close finish.

HAMPDEN-SIDNEY READY FOR GAME

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Hampden-Sidney, Va., November 4.—Venable's field during the past few evenings has been the scene of the hardest work yet gone through with by the squad of piquein chasers of the Garnet and Gray, and Coach Yancey's aggregation will be in the best of condition Saturday, when they meet Richmond College in the second game of the championship series.

This team defeated Hampden-Sidney last year in a loosely played game by a score of 6 to 0.

The Garnet and Gray team is extremely fortunate in escaping with so few injuries from its contest with William and Mary on last Saturday, every man having reported Monday in good shape.

The scrimmages since Tuesday have been hard, and the deficiencies found by the coach in their last game are being righted. For a short period in the William and Mary game Hampden-Sidney played loose ball, and it was during this time that Schenk half back, on the opposing eleven, made a run for the only touchdown, but after this the team settled down and played winning ball.

Lewis, full back, was in his position yesterday, after two days of absence from practice, caused by a minor injury received in the scrimmage, and he is in good form.

Smith, who did not take the trip to Williamsburg, is again back and doing good work, and the position of left end is between he and Saunders. Payne, at right end, is playing hard ball.

In yesterday evening's practice, Oppenheimer, who has been playing a star game at full back on the scrub, was switched over to left half on the regulars, and shows up well. Coach Yancey has found a remarkable man in Oppenheimer, as it was with the case of Honaker, Virginia's famous quarter back, who manifested his ability in the last game with the Indians by a ninety-yard run. Oppenheimer has the characteristics of a good player, and will prove a hard proposition for the surest tacklers. Jones also is doing good work in full back. He has been playing full back in the scrimmages, filling in for Lewis, and he is the one of Lewis for two days, and several times has made runs of from forty to sixty yards.

Hindley, who played his position as left half last Saturday so well, is suffering with a sprained wrist. Reason, who played in the first game, is one of the nervous players ever seen on a local gridiron, but he is a little light.

At right half, Captain Yeager is the undisputed man for the position. Blanton, quarter back, although he had two teeth knocked out in Saturday's game, is working hard, and running the team like a veteran in the line, left, at center, Green or Walker and Benedict, at guards; Campbell and Allen, at tackles, will be in their respective positions Saturday, with six strong substitutes ready at any time to go in. Hampden-Sidney's line has proved one of its strong points so far this season.

Coach Yancey, with the same spirit that made him a star at Virginia, is working with the team, and plays as hard ball as any man on it.

Darkness ends every evening's practice, and that will be the case every evening until the line is met with Randolph-Macon in Richmond on November 12.

CHAUFFEUR-DISMISSSED

Samuel Coker Held Not Responsible for Accident to Wilbur Whitlow.

Samuel Coker, colored, the chauffeur employed by Councilman Morgan R. Mills, was dismissed in Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of running into Wilbur Whitlow, last Tuesday afternoon, at the corner of 407 Denny Street, father of the boy, acquitted the negro of all criminal responsibility. It was shown that the boy ran into the automobile while being chased by a playmate. He was rendered unconscious, and is still suffering from the effects of his injuries.

Coker was also dismissed on the charge of operating the machine without a chauffeur's license. It seems that the license had been procured for him by E. C. Pelouze, who afterwards changing his mind about the negro's competency, had it revoked. Pelouze, however, was considered by Justice Crutchenfeld to be still in effect. Mr. Mills had had the man examined by two judges, who reported to him that Coker was competent.

COLLEGE FOR BOY INSTEAD OF JAIL

Forgiven on Saying He Stole to Build Wireless Machine.

ACCUSER TO ASSIST HIM
Employer Who Had Youngster Arrested Now Offers to Pay for Education.

New York, November 4.—William Allen, seventeen years old, of 188 Baltic Street, Brooklyn, it developed yesterday, probably will go to college instead of to the penitentiary, because of his having committed a theft his ambition to become versed in the sciences, especially in wireless telegraphy and his bachelor of science, become known to his employer and to Chief Magistrate Kempner, of Brooklyn. Although the youngster was held in prison for a few days, to await the action of the grand jury, he was sent to the Children's Society for the night, and an effort will be made to have his sentence suspended, and to have him sent to college.

Allen was arrested in the afternoon by Detective Charles O'Brien, of the 84 Court Street. The charge was that on October 29 the boy took $55 from a drawer in an office in the drug store. Allen has worked for Lamb for more than a year. He was taken before Magistrate Kempner and straightway pleaded guilty to the charge.

The story of the youngster's devotion to science was then told. Allen had been reading about wireless telegraphy and studying electricity as much as he could from a few books and such small pieces of apparatus as he had. He had a small battery, and he had the head of a student. He does not have the appearance of a thief, and his employer spoke highly of his industry and intelligence. For many months Allen had been constructing a wireless apparatus, and figured that about $50 would be sufficient to buy the necessary materials. He did not have the money, however, and when he was taken into court, he said:

"I have been tempted many times to take money from my employer, where it was handy. I tried to save money so I could put up a wireless apparatus on our roof at home. I could not get enough money, however, to buy the materials in the safe the other day and so I took it. I spent the money on the batteries, and took them to the roof."

"I expected to spend more money within a day or two for wire and other materials that I needed. I wanted to earn money by telegraphing, and see if I could pick messages out of the sky like Jack Binns did. I have been tempted to do it a little bit money twice before. It did not amount to much, and I spent it for pieces of apparatus. I never spent any of the money I stole except to help me in my studies."

Lamb was much impressed by the boy's story. He said to the magistrate: "I hope it will not be necessary to send this boy to jail. I am willing to let him have his wages against him, and I will do everything in my power to have the sentence suspended. If I can get him free I shall gladly give him a position in my office. He has been a very good boy, and I have always found him obedient. I think a chap so eager to learn should be encouraged."

He had been asked to hold the boy, but arranged that he should be sent to the Children's Society, so the youngster would not have to go to prison.

DESPONDENT MAN ENDS LIFE.

Charles H. Henkel Commits Suicide by Shooting Himself Through Heart.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Harrisonburg, Va., November 4.—Charles T. Henkel, aged forty-eight years, a former hotel man, shot himself through the heart at his home in New Market, Shenandoah county, today. His wife, who was Miss Nettie B. Henkel, a sister of the late John B. Henkel, rushed to the room in time to take a sealed letter from his hand before he died. The contents of the letter are not known. He had been sick a week and very despondent. He leaves two sisters—Miss Letitia Henkel and Mrs. George Williams, of Broadway—and a brother, Stuart, in Washington.

RICHMOND GETS WINTRY BLAST

Snow Storm in East Cripples Wires and Upsets Train Schedules.

Winter is letting its presence be keenly felt by a cold wave which is sweeping over the country, accompanied by snow, sleet and rain. While the wind attained a velocity of twenty-five miles an hour early yesterday morning, the mercury touched the lowest point of the winter and there were hurries of snow. People were awakened from their sleep by the gale which rattled the window sash, banged the shutters and at times seemed to threaten to blow the roof off the house.

Trains came into Richmond yesterday morning covered with snow. Mails were delayed and for several hours telegraphic communication was interrupted. Richmond awoke to discover that real winter had set in, also, to learn that the city fathers of some of the sections of the outside world.

Richmond was fortunate, however, in comparison with other cities. Washington experienced a near repetition of the inauguration blizzard of eighteen months ago, and for several hours was entirely cut off from outside communication by damaged wires. Snow fell in the capital in the early morning. It was but a sprinkle, however, and the main damage was done by the heavy winds. People who are there to participate in the Hale-thorpe meet. In fact, the storm seems to have been general over the country, being most severe along the Atlantic coast.

Afternoon mails from North and East were delayed for an hour yesterday. All mails were late during the day. Trains arriving from Washington last night over the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad were from thirty to forty minutes behind schedule time. The Seaboard train was an hour late. All wires north of Washington were down last night.

PLEDGE THEIR HELP

Colored People Hold Big Meeting to Aid True Reformers.

Meeting last night in their hall, many True Reformers of this and other cities pledged their continued support of the organization, thus giving evidence of their faith that the adversities which have beset it will be righted. The attendance last night was estimated at 700.

The meeting was opened with a scriptural reading by Rev. W. E. Graham and prayer by Rev. A. W. Thomas. Addresses were delivered by A. W. Holmes, grand worship master; J. R. Wilson, W. P. Burrill, R. T. Hunt and Rev. B. J. Johnson. Mr. W. H. Hunt was in charge of the work of the organization in Pennsylvania, appealed to the members to stand solid, and pledged the continued loyalty of the True Reformers. Other speakers spoke encouragingly, and urged those present to make material sacrifices that the organization might be able to rise to their feet and stated their willingness to abide by the institution in its address. A. W. Holmes explained the situation, and his remarks were received with hearty approval. He, too, urged the support of the members, declaring that a right spirit of co-operation would save the situation.

BACK FOR CELEBRATION

Rev. Wm. L. Ball Returns From Chaplain Meetings in Chicago.

Rev. William L. Ball, pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church, returned yesterday from a visit of three weeks to Chicago, where he was one of fifty evangelists assisting in a campaign conducted there by Rev. A special service will be held at Tabernacle Church to-morrow morning, marking the fifth anniversary of Mr. Ball's pastorate. Mr. Ball will give an account of the evangelistic campaign in Chicago.

On Monday night the celebration of the anniversary will be continued with an elaborate organ recital under the auspices of the Tabernacle Baptist Church. Bassett W. Hough, organist of the Second Baptist Church, will render several organ selections, and there will be a special offering for the fund. Maude Porter Gunn, Miss McDonald, Dr. Maurice Koblenzer and Howard D. Bryant.

On Tuesday evening the church will hold a public reception under the auspices of the Woman's Aid Society, to which all the members of the congregation have been invited.

TWO MEN CLAIM YOUTH AS THEIR OWN SON

Judge Finally Settles Dispute—Matters Considered Control of Charity Distribution in Danville.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Danville, Va., November 4.—An unusual case was tried out at Schooler's court yesterday. Two men, both claiming to be the father of a sixteen-year-old boy, working in the cotton mills, as their son, the parties involved being John Stuart and John Brown. The relatives of both parties contended that the boy involved was their brother, and it was finally necessary to send for an expert judge to settle the dispute, he testifying that the youth was Stuart's son, the Stuart family having moved here recently, claiming to be brother or James Corbett, the great pugilist, was married here today, his bride being Miss Janie Taylor, of this city, at the residence of Rev. W. H. Davis, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Church, on North Main Street.

Henry Gaines, a young white man, was held for the action of the grand jury here today on the charge of non-support. Several witnesses stated that Mrs. Eanes on a number of occasions had been forced to apply to the city for aid, and that recently she had been notified that the house she and her children occupied, Eanes was bailed in the sum of $50 for his appearance before the Corporation Court.

The ministers of the city met this afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. in consultation with the Mayor. Steps were taken looking toward the better control of charity distribution in the city. A committee appointed, composed of Rev. W. R. Laid, Dr. J. E. Hines and Rev. G. C. Duncan, who will, with the assistance of the physical director of the Y. M. C. A., formulate a plan which will be presented at a meeting in the near future.

Bar Harbor, the fashionable Maine resort, decided some time ago that automobiles were a nuisance. The Legislature passed an automobile exclusion act. Then the state mobilized took the matter to the Supreme Court to find out if the law was constitutional. The Supreme Court says it is, as are the automobiles to disturb the numbers of the rich.

Richmond College and Hampden-Sidney are matched for today. What a fight that will be! Both teams are in prime condition, and the boys from near Farmville are proud of their gridiron record this season. On the other hand, Richmond has played in some tough luck, and also Richmond has played some mighty poor games. Coach Long has striven hard to get his team in shape. At any rate, the final score will tell of a hard-fought game.

William and Mary and Randolph-Macon got together for a championship game. It looks as if the Ashland crowd has it on the Williamsburg aggregation, and from previous records should win.

Jacob Schaefer's fifteen-year-old son has been matched to play O. Morningsstar, the champion billiardist of the world, a series of games in Day's parlors, New York. The youngster's name is also Jacob, and his advent into the game is watched with interest. The contest will be 300 points at 15.

All aboard for the ball park. And bring your enthusiasm along, for I am advised by both sides that there will be some hot doings. Carolina is going to fool everybody, and Blackburg is going to try to keep from being fooled. So there you are. A week ago I should have picked V. P. I. Now well, I don't know.

Right funny thing last night. Before the local sports got a good look at the North Carolina crowd odds were 10 to 7 on Blacksburg. After the look odds changed to 5 to 1 on a little of the big and money is tight.

Another funny thing was to see the way the wise boys gathered around the players just to hear what they would say. Nothing like trying to get a line on how you're going to spend your money. And after you get your line, even then it is pretty hard to feel real sure.

Pretty sure thing that the new bowling league will be formed. The captains of the eight teams have been selected, and a meeting has been called for Newport Alley tonight. Should the league meet with proper support—and there is no good reason why it should not—games will be played four nights in the week. As I have said before, bowling is a great sport and should enlist the support of all those physically able to roll the balls down the alley.

Up to the present time none of those huskies have come into this office with a report. It seems that the boys are pretty soon many people will believe that the shooters can't hit anything. I am getting a little skeptical myself.

Owners of the Petersburg club held a meeting last night and elected officers. No site for a ball park was determined upon. William and Mary and Bradley, of the local team, who were expected, did not
